To the Editor:—

Claresholm Review:

Sir:—I crave a short space in your paper for an appreciation from me to the boys of the Claresholm Cadet Corps attending the Sarcee Camp last week, and also hope it may interest your readers and perhaps stimulate more interest in the work of the cadets as a whole in our community. Claresholm may well be proud of the boys in the cadet corps, those going to the camp being the best boys any man could wish to command.

W. T. H. Cripps.

Captain, Commanding Claresholm Cadet Corps in Camp, July 13-20, 1921

The Cadet Camp held at Sarcee Camp, Calgary, and attended by 35 members of the Claresholm Cadet Corps from July 13th to the 20th inclusive, was a conspicuous success from every standpoint. Brilliant weather favored the camp all the time, and added materially to the comfort of all concerned.

From the moment the Claresholm corps marched into camp headed by their flag bearer and bugle band, they led the way in the rural battalion in everything. The first morning's daily orders showed Claresholm corps as having the best and cleanest lines of the battalion and having set the pace in the various other corps, they maintained it to the end. For smartness and steadiness on parade they were in no way outclassed, and at the general inspection by Brig.-Gen'l Bell, D. G. M. D. G. Bell, Lt. Col. C. Cadet Regiment, as the "Sports Company," and this reputation, they fully maintained throughout their stay in the camp, due to the fact that they were courageous and although heroes in football and base ball, were not finally awarded the rural battalion the title of the Claresholm corps held that of the Royal Emprie for "playing the game to the end, despite adverse circumstances."

Major Law had a personal note of appreciation to the boys attending the camp. I do not remember a more enjoyable time and I should feel more honored to be requested to accept his compliment again. They were splendid in every way, and the finest body of boys in the battalion.

The arrangements of the camp by Major Law, Q.M.C., were admirable, and the success and efficiency of the whole camp is due to his untiring efforts, seconded in some small degree by his adjutant, Major Law.

Fatal Mountain Climbing Accident at Banff

On July 26 word was received from Banff that Dr. Stone, an elderly attorney from Indiana, and his wife, who had started out on the 15th to climb Mount Eon, were missing. Searching parties started out to hunt for them and the following day found the bodies of the two. Dr. Stone had been found on a narrow ledge in an exhausted condition and that Dr. Stone had fallen into a crevasse and was killed. Up to this time this record closes the body has not been found.

Golf Notes

The Macleod golfers headed by Mr. McKenzie and Dr. Kennedy invaded Claresholm on July 6th and easily carried off the trophy to their credit.

On Wednesday, July 20, seven Claresholm golfers travelled to High River to play off a return game. H. Stewart was the only winner, and the others were all score being 6-1. High winds and dust made good golf impossible.

The Claresholm Golf Club will miss J. Halliday. Mr. Halliday had given his game in Scotland and the real golfers of the world have been a great help to the club, not only by the help he was always willing to give but his game was always a stimulus to greater efforts.

The Golf Club dance on the evening of Wednesday, August 10th bids fair to be one of the best dances ever given in town. Good music will be provided, and the ladies will be sure that the ball will be a success. Bookwell's Irene art putting in a booth and will supply ice cream and cold drinks.

British Admiralty Pursues A Courageous Policy Of Most Rigid Economy

Great Britain is building four new battleships and orders for three have already been placed. It will be recalled that these new ships were included in the naval estimates announced some little time ago, and we reported some idea of an adolescent type. Three years will be necessary to make the ships ready for sea and the approximate cost of each ship will be $10,000,000. The figures are mentioned here in nothing but the sense of a well-considered Admiralty scheme, which does not in any way involve a race in armaments. A diagrammatic statement is available of the number of battleships under the jurisdiction of the three leading naval powers, representing their position in the present year and what it will be in the year 1924, assuming that the four new British battleships are completed by that time. It reads:

	1921	1924
United States	17	33
Great Britain	32	36
Japan	11	17

It should not be forgotten that naval expansion is a policy of all nations, and in this connection it may be recalled that Mr. Walter Long was First Sea Lord last year, he stated that the establishment of the British fleet should be 127,500, including officers and men. So far as the Canadian side is concerned, the Admiralty has pursued a courageous policy of rigid economy since the close of the war. Of the vessels the admiral had at his disposal at the time of the armistice many hundred were scrapped, and following that action, the Admiralty sent to the ship-breakers' yards almost a couple of hundred completed vessels, embracing many classes, from small gunboats to less obsolete.

In the past Great Britain maintained a two-power standard and afterwards built to maintain a 60 per cent. superiority over her fleet, Germany, which now a one-power fleet, is also the leader. The British Admiralty, also, by its moderation, has set an example consistent with the new ideals embodied in the League of Nations.

The Change in Manners

Boston Professor Deplores the Modern Trend in Slip Shop Manners.

Boston's most distinguished octogenarian, President Eliot, has just returned from Europe, where he has been discussing the manners of men and women. He says that he has watched young men and "ladies" for three generations, and their habits have changed greatly during the past twenty years.

He says that young men and women do things now that would have been "simply out of the question" when he was young man. He says that girls expect to be made to ride in cars, and men and women are coarse even in their greetings and farewells nowadays. He admits that "an old-fashioned person like me" may misjudge young people of today, and he tries to hope that the change of manners is for the better.

Dr. Eliot's remarks were made in an address to the Society of Harvard Dame in Cambridge, the other day, and were printed in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin.

As part of their peace-time programme a census of all blind persons in Saskatchewan is being carried on by the Provincial Department of the Blind. Dollar's Purchasing Power Is Slowly but Surely Coming Back to Normal, Say Financiers.

Purchasing power of the dollar, based on current prices, was 100 cents when the world war began. In July 1914, it was worth 95 cents; in April 1915, it was 90 cents; in July 1916, it was 87 cents; July 1918, at 66 cents; July 1919, it was 55 cents; in July 1920, it was worth 50 cents; in April 1921, at 48 cents; in July 1922, at 47 cents—and thus came business collapse. During the purchasing power of a dollar had been back to 100 cents when you will find it has increased in buying ability since the first month of this year about 80 per cent. So the financiers say, and they have studied the market. Just the same, purchasing power in commodities in certain towns will not accept the figures at their face value.

British Columbia Forests

Total Value of Forest Products for 1920 Was $92,628,807.

Federal and Provincial Government reports show that British Columbia contains approximately half of the sawtimber of Canada. The total value of timber products in 1920 was $92,628,807, as against $70,285,094 for the previous year. The value of the lumber cut advanced by nearly sixteen million, while the increase in the value of logs and paper amounted to over nine millions.

Community Health

Subject Should Interest All, Says Doctor.

"Every citizen awake to his best interest should take a keen interest in the health of his community," said Dr. Mahood, city health officer, during an address on community sanitation at Calgary. "The health of the community is the cornerstone of our happiness, and we must never forget to exercise the best judgment during the summer months, when certain diseases are liable to become prevalent."

Trees To New Zealand

British Columbia Trees Sent to Australia for Planting.

Two thousand trees of various kinds are being sent to New Zealand. The trees are being sent from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and was undertaken by the Saskatchewan advisory committee for this organization, the Red Cross lending its facilities to secure the information.

Fruit Growing at Grand Forks.

The fruit-growing sections of the Grand Forks district in B.C. are receiving the benefits of a considerable immigration this summer. During the past week, two carloads of settlers, mostly from the United States, and substantial holdings of fruit land were purchased by two Englishmen and an arrival from Mesopotamia.

Indispensable.

Beaver Farm in Alberta

One of the Largest Beaver Farms in the West on Ribstone Creek, New Edmonton.

F. E. Parkinson, who has a farm unit on Ribstone Creek, near Ribstone Creek, has probably one of the largest beaver farms in Western Canada, says the Edmonton Bulletin. Although beavers have become almost extinct in most parts of the west, under government protection during the past five or six years they have multiplied in the Ribstone Creek very rapidly and at the present time there are said to be more than 100,000 beavers in the area. The creek, which is only twenty miles long, has a head of 100 feet and a fall of 50 feet, and furnishes a supply of food, and wood for building their dams, as well as a protection. In this section of the stream there are several deep beaver holes, and probably a beaver is seen at work, but it is impossible to determine the number, except by the evidence of trees being cut down and stoned for food and the dams.

The beavers are kept from moving up or down stream by a fence made of wire, built below and above the section of the stream which they inhabit. Mr. Parkinson intends to build a house along both sides of the stream as well.

Beavers have been under government protection for a number of years, but special arrangements have been made in the case of beaver farms, to permit the cutting of trees for the provincial game guardian by tender, twenty-five per cent. of the sale price being retained by the government. From the standpoint of profit, however, the beaver is not a very profitable animal, as he eats a great deal of timber, and his fur is not worth as much as usual. They are timid and perplexed. Their plans for the year are to be followed by those of the foxes, who are too fond of them to whom they are sold, and who, in addition to the foxes, are the chief enemies of the beaver.

This is a special field for farm management, and the farmer, because of his position in regard to the beaver, is likely to be less active than usual. They are timid and perplexed. Their plans for the year are to be followed by those of the foxes, who are too fond of them to whom they are sold, and who, in addition to the foxes, are the chief enemies of the beaver.

The good manager, on the other hand, is out to make the most possible profit from his beaver farm.

Through the program for profits, it may not be so promising as it is in any other business. The good manager is always on the alert for opportunities.

He is always planning for and securing things that will save him time and his labor, cut his production costs and enable him to make more money out of his farming business.

If he needs a new implement—if careful consideration shows him that the use of the implement will aid in his work, and more than pay for it, he should buy it with the utmost respect—at a distance—and they evidently had a contempt for us as green horns. "The Interprovincial Weed Special"

(1) The Inter-Provincial Weed Special standing on the siding at Dominion City.

(2) School children visiting the Weed Special at Oak Lake.

The second exhibit contained a collection of machinery employed in connection with weed destruction, seed cleaning and cultivation purposes.

The two lecture cars which were used for this purpose only, were filled with exhibits bearing upon the weed question.

The staff accompanying the train included members of the Provincial Governments, Agricultural Colleges and Schools, included Mr. W. C. Sherman, who was shown under magnifying glasses, and models of weed seeds enlarged to proportions of one thousand times.

The Weed Special car as a spoke in the interest of the young and old. Here were valentines and living and pressed plants to bind them and complemented well these were companion cards indicating the means of education.

Mr. W. C. Sherman, who was shown under magnifying glasses, and models of weed seeds enlarged to proportions of one thousand times.

The trip was a success and the people who were invited to the meetings were pleased.

In these places the type of implement suggested for the eradication of weeds was displayed.

In another section space was devoted to Natural History, featuring the life of the locust, the hopper and the cutworm, each in various stages with charts showing the methods of attacking these pests.

The objective of the Provincial Government, through the Alberta Railway, was to arouse public sentiment to the seriousness of the weed problem and that this has been accomplished and the results are thoroughly justified.

Oh, Money! Money!

— BY ELEANOR H. PORTER

Printed by Special Arrangements with Thos. Allen, Toronto, Ont.

"No." The millionaire still smiled imperturbably. "Really, my dear Ned, I'm disappointed in you. You don't seem to realize the possibilities of this thing."

"Oh, yes, I am—perhaps better than you, I suppose—but the other side of an expressive glance."

"Oh, come, Ned! Listen! I've never seen them, and they never saw me. I'm going to give them a tidy little sum, and then I'll let them have all the fun of watching them spend it. Any harm in that, especially as it's no one's business what I do with my money?"

"No, I suppose not—if you can manage to keep them from getting it. I can, I think. I'm going to be John Smith."

"I chose a colorless one on purpose."

"I'm going to be a colorless person, you know."

"Oh! And—or—do you think Mr. Stanley G. Fulton, multimillionaire, who reads all the leading papers and magazines from the Atlantic to the Pacific, can hide that face behind a mask?"

"Maybe not. But he can't hide behind a nice little close-cropped beard. His hair has been stroked his smooth chin reflectively."

"Humph! How large is Hitler?"

"Eight or ten thousand. Nine like New England towns. They're—ahemmed in Hillerton, that will enable you to be the observing fly on your cousin's shoulder."

"Yes, I've thought that all out, too; and that's another brilliant stroke. I'm going to let him work at work tracing the Blaiddell family—they're name is Blaiddell, you know. I'll be the author of the collection of an endless amount of data. Now, how about that? It's a cinch!"

"Mighty poor, if he's swatted—and that's what he will be! New Englanders are all death on flies, understand?"

"Well, I'll risk this one."

"There's a point where there were exasperation and amusement in the lawyer's eyes, but there was only mock sympathy in his voice."

"You know all you tell, Fallon!"

"The man who owned the million had no such imperturbability."

"Oh, yes, I know what you mean. You're in a craze. You're really interested in the legal tools. I've been thinking for some time I'd go digging about the root of my ancestor's trouble, and I'll do it now."

"So that's the start. I shall be selling no fibs."

"And think of the opportunity it gives me! Besides, I've got a few more with one of them. I've decided that."

"Upon my word, a pretty little scheme, Fallon."

"Yes, I know you'd appreciate it, the more you thought about it! Mr. Smith's eyes twinkled again."

"With a disdainful gesture, the lawyer closed this aside."

"Do you mind telling me how you happened to think of it yourself? You must have had a very good hunch, got out by a Trust Company."

"It sounds like it."

"I'll just suggest this, I'll admit; but they did suggest that, if you were fearless as to the way you wanted to do it, you once could create a trust fund for their benefit while you were living."

"What excuse are you going to give them? That you're too old to take care of themselves, and so on?"

"But how are you going to fix it?"

"What excuse are you going to give them? That you're too old to take care of themselves, and so on?"

"That part we'll have to fix up in the letter of instructions."

"I'll warrant you have!"

"I believe anything of you now, even though it must be cash—no securities. I want them to do their own work."

A Friend To the Aged

When men and women get past middle life their energy and vitality are lessened and they are more subject to the wear and tear of the world.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less unsteady.

Health sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidence of a break down begins to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy should use McLean's Liver and Nervous Pill.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, strengthen and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy and energy to the system.

Mrs. James Perez, Retlaw, Alta., writes: "Some months ago I was not feeling well and my doctor advised me to go to the country. I did so, spending a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two bottles of McLean's Liver and Nervous Pill. After a few days and my what a change there was in me and when I had taken them I did not feel the same again for I quit them. Now take them at intervals, and am fine although 72 years old."
